

Green City

Its 2018. Criminal gangs run the Green City under the mask of civic action groups, environmental and fitness movements. Mulshos watching brief for the Bureau forces him into a bizarre, unwanted discovery: a cache of documents links Soviet dictator Stalin to the German General Staff, from the Bolshevik Revolution and civil war to the Second World War. The secret has the power to decide who and what will rule 21st century Russias. Russian, Israeli, American and other agencies and the gangs clash over its possession and throw Mulsho into a collision of loyalties. To put the secret into the right hands he must betray the Bureau. To understand the prophetic woman he loves he must revisit the horrors of the War, and see that he must lose her; and as military intervention unfolds in the Green City he must do something to keep it short of civil war. He must change from witness and watcher into soldier in his own war. This is historical fiction. It ties the past to the near future. It looks at the power of events long past, even those obscured by secrecy and time, to strike into the world of the living, capture their hearts, recast their lives and minds, and their urge to faith.
